ANNEXURE “A”

THE CODE OF CONDUCT

1. PURPOSE

The primary purpose of the Code of Conduct is to ensure that SRC candidates, nominated to serve the UNIZULU Student Body pledge their commitment to remain faithful to the guidelines and conduct as outlined in the Student Governance Constitution as well as this Code of Conduct by signing it. Nominees who accept nomination must sign a copy of this Code of Conduct that will remain with the administrative office of the elections. No candidate will be allowed to proceed if they have not signed this Code of Conduct. Appending a signature signifies that regardless of their various backgrounds, candidates are willing to become a team, reading from the same page, subscribe to the same values and rules and conduct themselves accordingly.

2. VALUES UNDERLYING STUDENT GOVERNANCE

The students of UNIZULU commit through their declaration in the Constitution to the following:

- i) Respect for the norms and values of democracy
- ii) Promotion of academic excellence
- iii) Non-sexism
- iv) Non-tribalism
- v) Transparency
- vi) Accountability
- vii) Democratic participation and
- viii) Representation in accordance with the institutions' rules, regulations and code of conduct

These are the values that must undergird Student Governance throughout their office term in general and the election period in particular. All registered students of UNIZULU are urged to abide by these and to encourage one another to do so.

3. RULES

The following rules provide a framework for the conduct of individuals who offer themselves for leadership positions at UNIZULU. They are general rules whose intention is to help student leaders to conduct themselves in a manner that is exemplary to the rest of the Student Body as well as project a positive image of the SRC to the University Community and externally.

3.1 Democracy and Sectarian tendencies

The SRC is a democratic structure which represents students from different political, cultural and economic backgrounds. It is the only representative structure with whom the University Management and Council consult on matters pertaining to rules and policies that affect the students. This places a responsibility on individuals elected onto the SRC to ensure impartiality and fairness for all. When individuals take up their positions on the SRC, they must:-

- 3.1.1 Immediately relinquish their leadership positions in other student structures for the duration of their term of office;
- 3.1.2 Project non-bias and non-sectarian behaviour; and
- 3.1.3 Practice and promote tolerance among students of diverse views and ideological persuasions.

3.2 Academic Responsibilities

Serving on the SRC is not in conflict with being a student and for that matter, a performing student. The SRC is a student representative council in an institution of higher learning and its members should at all times seek to preserve that image. In order to ensure a balance between SRC duties and academic responsibilities the SRC members should ensure that they:-

- 3.2.1 Discuss office hours with the Dean of Students so as to ensure a balanced programme of activities;
- 3.2.2 Promote a culture of learning among fellow students; and

3.2.3 Work with a mentor they are allocated to or their preferred mentor who has been approved by the Executive member responsible for Student Affairs.

3.3 Cheating and Plagiarism

Both cheating- that is, copying from notes or obtaining assistance from another student during the course of an examination; and plagiarism- that is, using another person's ideas as if they were your own, without an acknowledgement, are serious offences in academic institutions. The latter is even a criminal offence for it amounts to theft of another person's intellectual property. Lack of a balanced programme and failure to prepare for an examination should not tempt individuals to behave in a manner that is contrary to the spirit of this document. Complaints about plagiarism and cheating are escalated to the Disciplinary Committee: Students. However, it would be an embarrassment for the SRC if any of their members were to be charged with plagiarism or cheating in the examination. It would also negate the spirit of ethical leadership development at UNIZULU.

3.4 Honesty, dependability and reliability

Individuals are elected as leaders because they are recognized as such by their peers. Traits of a good leader include inter alia, honesty, dependability and reliability. Honesty is expected in dealings with fellow students, University authorities, and external stakeholders and in academic matters. A leader is also dependable in that it always has something to give and is willing to assist although some leaders do not know this because they neither reflect on their talents nor want to use them in the service of others. It is also expected of leaders to be reliable. If a promise has been made, it should be followed through or else a tangible reason should be given if that is not the case. There is nothing more discouraging than a leader who does not turn up at scheduled meetings or who says many things at the same time.

3.5 Disruption of Academic activities

Academic activity is core business of the University. It is structured in carefully worked out time slots and the content is segmented into time frames and must be finished within those time frames in order to ensure that students are ready for assessment. Any form of disruption of the academic business causes set backs in these plans and it disadvantages the students. Student leaders are therefore:-

- 3.5.1 Prohibited from causing disruption of academic activities;
- 3.5.2 Not to act in a manner that leads to, or forces individuals to miss scheduled teaching sessions; and
- 3.5.3 Not to use their leadership positions to pursue activities that interfere with academic activities on any of the UNIZULU campuses.

3.6 Registration of complaints and grievances

In the past, students in South Africa had found it difficult to register complaints with University authorities as they had maintained the political status quo of the time. The democratic era has however since opened up avenues for the expression of opinion, freedom of conscience, etc. It has also put in place mechanisms to ensure that individuals exercise their rights in a manner that does not disadvantage others. Anyone who wants to serve on the SRC should:-

- 3.6.1 Take note of the channel for communicating complaints to University Management and use it;
- 3.6.2 Refer any digression from the normal route to the Dean of Students for approval;
- 3.6.3 Seek permission from relevant University Authority if the Dean of Students approves a registration of complaints and grievances in a manner that falls outside the prescribed communication protocol.

3.7 Theft, damage destruction of property

Student leaders shall at all times ensure the safety of humans and property on campus. They are not to:-

- 3.7.1 Forcefully enter or cause others to forcefully enter any University building, office, building used for parking, etc;
- 3.7.2 Damage, destroy, or steal University property; and
- 3.7.3 Remove any office equipment from their offices without written permission.

3.8 Physical abuse, harassment and dangerous activities

A University is supposed to be a safe environment where people work and/or pursue knowledge in a protected context. Where there is a difference of opinion, such differences are argued out until they are resolved. There is never a time when use of force or threat to anybody's life is excusable in this context. Equally, no individual may be coerced into a sexual relationship or harassed on the basis of his/her gender or sexual preference or forced to participate in any activity that may lead to physical harm or threat to an individual's health. Student leaders are particularly expected to resist the temptation to use their positions to perpetrate such deeds. It is therefore a serious offense to commit one or more of the following deeds on the campuses of UNIZULU:

- 3.8.1 Cause physical harm to any student or employee of the University;
- 3.8.2 Cause psychological harm on any student or employee of the University;
- 3.8.3 Harass-whether physically or mentally, any student or member of staff on the grounds of gender, sexuality or cultural difference; and
- 2.8.4 Force any student to engage in dangerous activities.

3.9 Unauthorized or fraudulent use of University facilities, equipment or services

The University tries as much as possible to create working and recreational spaces for use by student leaders, structures and formations. Use of these is regulated by internal rules governing the use of facilities. Student leaders are not exempt from observing the rules that regulate the use of facilities. They are therefore to:-

- 3.9.1 Follow the process of application that is prescribed for use of University facilities;
- 3.9.2 Use the facility as directed by the regulations that apply to it. The facility or equipment so obtained is not to be used for personal gain but for official business only; and
- 3.9.3 Obtain access to the University equipment through the correct channels and use them according to the regulations governing them.

4. TRANSGRESSIONS

4.1 In the event that any of the rules in paragraph 3 above are transgressed, the following process shall be followed:

4.1.1 The transgression must be reported to the Dean of Students by any member of the Student Body or employee of the University of Zululand;

4.1.2 The Dean of Students must investigate the complaint and compile evidence;

4.1.3 Transgressions pertaining to unethical behaviour of an SRC member shall be adjudicated by the Dean of Students and a corrective measure(s) imposed; thereafter, the matter shall have been disposed of. If the transgressor does not comply, his/her behaviour shall be viewed as a refusal to obey a reasonable order from a University official and referred to the Disciplinary Committee: Students;

4.1.4 If the transgression pertains to the general rules of the University, the Dean of Students shall forward the evidence collected to the Disciplinary Committee for Students without examining it; and

4.1.5 The Dean of Students may in the case of paragraph 4.1.3 above decline to act further on a reported transgression if in his/her opinion; there is insufficient evidence to support the complaint of wrongdoing.

5. PLEDGE AND SIGNATURE

I.....
hereby declare that I have read and understood the contents of this Code of Conduct. I accept them and therefore pledge to uphold the values, ideals and discipline of a committed SRC member for the duration of my term of office.
